INTERNATIONAL DATE LINE

For 30 years FASHION INTERNATIONAL editors have served the fashion community providing valuable and timesaving information. From the runways to the showrooms, these dedicated professionals report first-hand on what is happening in the market. Our editors, always looking for designers who are worthy of your attention, source the prestigious trade shows for exciting, trend-setting, and often new collections.

Our international color and fabric reports prepare you for next season's trends, and our business reports, with features such as The Greening of American Fashion, Guidelines for Global Expansion and The Advertising Dilemma, span the gamut of legitimate business concerns within our industry.

Finally, as an added advantage, FASHION INTERNATIONAL is a sister publication to the well-respected 50-year-old publication, FASHION CALENDAR. So, you can rely on our feature, International Dateline, to provide you with accurate and essential international trade show and market dates.

Among our varied and prestigious subscribers are Time Magazine, Linda Allard for Ellen Tracy, Philadelphia University, and the Atlanta Mart. We thank them for their continuing support, and look forward to welcoming you as a new subscriber.

EYE ON FABRICS and FIBERS

Spring 2004 and Fall/Winter 2004/2005

In this report, we focus on both fiber innovations and color trends. Fiber innovation does not have to be expensive. For instance, the Bernardo Company has made its mission to deliver fashion for a price. It is also apparent that the designers, having embraced color for the past few seasons, will continue to show strong colors in their showrooms for spring and into Autumn/Winter 2004/2005.

PART I: TEXTILE AND FABRIC INNOVATIONS

Lenpur TM: A Cultivated Wood Fiber

Made in California, the Lenpur fiber has been on the market since 1999. Lenpur comes from the pulp of a tree and, in its pure form, has a spongy feel. The Lenpur program is "eco-friendly"; the branches, not the trees, are cut to harvest the fiber. We first heard about Lenpur from PR representative Giancarlo Turra of Texinpro, the firm in charge of PR and worldwide distribution for Lenpur.

In our interview, Mr. Turra maintained that the applications for Lenpur are seemingly infinite: so far, it has been used in terry cloth towels, bathrobes, ski, cycling/snowboard socks, and Futon bed stuffing to name only a few of its applications. There is also a cashmere program going on with "one of the best manufacturers in Italy," although Mr. Turra was not at liberty to name clients. The Lenpur fiber is sought after in the luxury market because of the quality of softness it brings when mixed with other fibers. This makes it ideally suited for items that need to be soft, such as underwear. It also has a superior absorption capability, keeping the wearer cool and dry by containing sweat. The company is currently studying how to make Lenpur tees and underwear.

Texinpro has also introduced Lenpur to the burgeoning home market. To date, applications include pillow covers and duvets. Texinpro's ultimate goal for the fiber is "to get into
